I have found potential matches for these names. I don't have middle initials for most of these, but since most of these names match the children of Benjamin Camilican Corbitt and Mary Winningham, I'll bet we've struck oil:

Martha H. ? b 2 Oct 1829 d 14 Apr 1897 m J.W. Fanning 1855
Mary E. ? sister of Martha (above)
Jesse M. b 27 Aug 1894 d 1984 m Irving Stewart
Eliza ? Elizabeth b 1821, sister of Martha?
Jesse (Only Jessie shown above)
Christian A. ? b 11 Jan 1789 d 1864, aunt of Martha (above)
William S. ? brother of Martha Mary F. ? sister of Martha Jesse H. ?(Only Jessie shown above)
John W.T. ? brother of martha Margaret Elizabeth Corbitt. ?sister of Martha

I'll try to put together a snail mail for Mrs. Hartzog, but I assure you it won't be going out this week. I have a family dinner and child's birthday party this Saturday. My wife is already fit to kill. I'll be there by Saturday myself.

No. Everyone is a volunteer and at our last Board Meeting the publications mailer wanted someone else to take over the job. The President took it under advisement. If you ordered something before 1 February and your check has cleared, I would send a reminder to the OGS-GS. At the Board Meeting we clarified the incoming mail procedures.

Will,

I have some misc. Corbitt info, some info from Winnie Betsell, etc.
but do not have nearly all the materials available. For example, Winnie just published a book on the Corbitts that I do not have yet. However, anything

I have on the Corbitt family is yours for the asking. I would suggest that you get your current data entered first. But, let me know.

Will,
You may be aware that Margaret Laura Sally Caroline Fanning married Benjamin
Franklin Corbitt on 15 Sep 1844 and then Isham J. Yon married Mrs.
Margaret
Laura Sally Caroline Corbitt on the 7th of Jan 1866. At our Feb. 17th
Board Meeting I provided the Editor of the OGS-GS Newsletter a copy of their family
Bible which may be in the forthcoming edition. In any event, when I write
Mrs. Hartzog I will include the Corbitt births, deaths, etc.

June,

Thank you for your comments on Margaret O'Cain Rucker Stivender. For twenty years I have been attempting to prove that my 4th Great Grandfather was the son of Frederick Stivender Sr which would make him the brother of David Stivender who married Margaret as a second wife. I show no children from that marriage.

Is your Corben the same family as Corbin? I would suspect so. If so do you have access to Mills Atlas of SC. there are a couple of location references there; one of which is the Corbin bridge from Lexington Co into Orangeburg Co. Also I have in my data base another reference or two to the Corbins.

If you do not have access to Mills Atlas send to me your snail address and I will mail the map to you. Also the other refs I have somewhere that I will have to look up. I just remember I have a couple of references somewhere. I also have most old marriages from the SE states. Pick a state and I will snail the list to you.

Note: A back issue of our OGS Newsletter says that David Stivender's probate papers are on file in the Orangeburg Courthouse. I have not written for them as Buddy Williams has been going to get a copy for me for the last couple of years. Also I understand there is nothing there but mention of his only daughter. No help to me.

Regards,

Jim

Hi Jim,

I just came back from South Carolina and was in the Orangeburg Court House, but did not check Stivender.

I suspect that Corben and Corbin are the same family. the Corben-Seawright Bible is in the Calhoun County Historical Museum in St. Matthews. I wanted to see it while in South Carolina, but the two times I tried I could not get access to the genealogical materials as the genealogist was out of town.

I do not have a Mills atlas and would much appreciate receiving any information from you. Please send to:

June Nettles,

Snailed to you today some Corbin info. Nothing of inporttancia.
Just a few things I found that might interest you. Mills Atlas, etc.

Found that a few of your slaves had taken your family name. That is a compliment. Found a mulatto in GA that was a freeman but on the run, but bore the name.

I sent to you the one sheet that I had from the Corbin family bible but had copied the only sheet that pertained to my name.

Will recheck to see what's more.

Regards,

Jim

Wonder if Mr Jefferies will ever slip and in his brilliant listing of Orangeburg peoples and make note to a Stivender family member???

I need desperately to know who were the wives of the three Stivender boys who came to the US with their father in 1752.

Distinguished jurists served the county

Jackson County has been served by distinguished jurists in its Chancery and Circuit courts but the records are not complete to the earliest days of the county.

Therefore the names of those who served the county will be those in comparatively recent years.

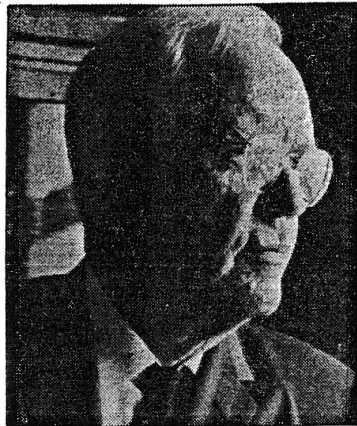

Judge L.C. Corban of Ocean Springs, now 85, retired in December, 1974, after 30 years on the bench, first as circuit judge in the Second Judicial District and then as chancery judge in the 16th Judicial District.

Corban was Second Judicial District (circuit) judge 1939-53. The district at that time was made up of Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, George and Stone counties.

Former Jackson County Circuit Clerk Vertis G. Ramsay said Corban retired from the circuit judgeship because after World War II, the defendants in criminal cases so often were young persons, men 18, 20, 24 years old.

"There was no such thing as probation in those days," Ramsay said. "Judge Corban found himself having to send young men to the penitentiary. They weren't the older degenerates that were the usual defendants before the war. It got to him and he left the bench."

Corban returned to the private practice of law for six years before seeking and winning the chancery judgeship which he assumed in 1959 and in which he served until his retirement.

JUDGE L.C. CORBAN was on the bench a total of 30 years including 14 years as circuit judge and 16 as chancellor.

Ramsay recalled that Corban would not socialize with lawyers or even lunch with one, not that he was aloof but to avoid even the slightest hint of partiality.

"He exemplified the perfect public servant, what all of us in public service should be," Chancery Clerk Lynn Presley said.

Corban was succeeded in the Second District judgeship by his former law partner, Leslie Grant.

When the 19th Judicial District was instituted it was made up of Jackson, George and Greene counties (as it still is) and Judge Darwin M. Maples of Lucedale was appointed by Gov. John Bell Williams to fill the post until the next judicial election, in 1962 when he won re-election and was seated in 1963.

When the second 19th District judge post was created, Merle F. Palmer of Pascagoula was appointed to it and won election in 1970.

Maples has remained in a 19th District judgeship since his appointment.

Judge Robert T. Mills followed Palmer in Place 2 (except for Robert Pritchard's interim service in the slot) and remains in that office.

When the third circuit judge place was created, Maples filled it and Clinton E. Lockard took over Place 1 in which he continues today.

Dan M. Russell Sr., father of U. S. District Judge Dan Russell, was chancellor when Corban became circuit judge in 1939 and administered the oath of office to Corban.

H.P. Heidelberg Sr. of Pascagoula had been a special chancellor in the Eighth Chancery District served by Russell. When the 16th Chancery District (Jackson, George and Greene counties) was created, Heidelberg was appointed judge and was elected in 1952. He served as chancellor until his retirement in 1958 and was succeeded by Corban.

When the second chancery post was created, Kenneth B. Robertson won the special election held in 1973. He ran for and won the Place 1 post to succeed Corban.

Rex Gordon Sr. succeeded Robertson in Place 2 for one term and was followed by Robert H. Oswald.

Glenn Barlow is the Place 3 chancellor.

The county court was established by proclamation of Gov. J.P. Coleman and John D. Gautier won the office in a special election in November, 1959, narrowly defeating L.A. "Red" Watts. Both men outdistanced Charles W. Ford.

Watts won the seat in 1962, took office in 1963 and remained in office until 1974.

When the second county court judgeship was established, O.L. "Pete" McLeod filled it and was succeeded by the present judge in that post, Judge Bill Jones.

The present Place 1 Judge Emily Baker King succeeded Watts in the office that has dealt primarily with the Youth Court while the Place 2 judge handles the civil, criminal and most eminent domain cases.
